JOIN US FOR AN INSPIRING CONVERSATION OVER BREAKFAST WITH FOUR AMAZING WOMEN WORKING IN THE ENTERTAINMENT AND MEDIA INDUSTRIES.

Ali Kavanagh graduated with a Business degree in Music Industry and Event Management. She worked as a Music Supervisor for the Ten Network and the ABC, bringing music and licensing expertise to film and TV soundtracks. Recently, she secured the soundtrack for an interactive arts exhibition called "Connection" at the Melbourne Convention Centre. Ali is now the Festival Director for Port Fairy Winter Weekend.

Colleen Hughson is a freelance video producer and owner of First Ladies Productions in Warrnambool. She creates impactful films that challenge stereotypes, amplify underrepresented voices, and celebrate life. With over 400 films produced, including 56 for the state government, Colleen focuses on the environment, First Nations stories, women, and youth. Her projects have been screened at film festivals and broadcast globally, contributing to storytelling, social impact, and environmental advocacy.

Emily Bissland is a Senior Features Reporter for ABC South West Victoria. She started as a stop-motion animator and received recognition for her work, including a Best Multi-Media Award. Two of her online videos, 'Warrnambool Wombat Mural' and 'Old man and The Wood' went viral on Facebook with over 20 million views. Emily has produced stories for TV shows like Back Roads, Australian Story, and Gardening Australia, showcasing her storytelling skills.

Michelle Risk, originally from Warrnambool, is an Advanced Life Support Paramedic with Ambulance Victoria in Geelong. She has also worked in clinical education and assessments for Paramedic staff. Michelle appeared in the first season of Channel 9's "Paramedics" She has gone on to appear in three more seasons of the high rating series offering the community a true insight into life on the road for paramedics.
